

Katie Raybuck has been a staff nurse in the GI/Endoscopy department at Virginia Mason Medical Center, Seattle, WA, for 11 years. She has been a PNWSGNA member since 2002 and joined the Board as Scholarship Chair in 2006.

Katie enjoys her position on the Board because it is a chance to be involved in how the professional society benefits its members and because she gets to give away money!

In 2003 she challenged herself by taking the certification exam and is pleased to be a CGRN. A third generation Washingtonian, Katie and her husband have one son and live in Shoreline. She enjoys any activity that involves her family, quilting, gardening, baseball, and bicycling.
